

Tommy Arrives in Japan

UPDATES

Tommy arrived safely in Japan in mid-September. A few days before Tommy's departure, David Mills, the other missionary couple we are joining at J Lodge, underwent brain treatment to address hand tremors. Although he was expected to return to daily life immediately after the treatment, the side effects of the surgery were more severe than the doctor anticipated, leaving significant paralysis on the left side of his body.

This sudden event has become a great trial for J Lodge Cafe. David's wife, Yuka, has been visiting the hospital to support him. Immediately upon his arrival, Tommy has been supporting the management of J Lodge. We are thankful for God's mercy that allowed Tommy to arrive in Japan in time for this critical moment.

David's Surgery and Recovery

After the surgery, David was left with paralysis on the left side of his body, and the doctor was unsure how much he would recover. By the Lord's grace, he has been gradually regaining his physical functions. Just today, he was finally able to walk with support.
